In Carving Roger Wiley Discovers A Philosophy And A Retirement Hobby

BY ROBERTA O'CONNELL

In line with Horace Greeley's advice to "Go west, young man," Roger Wiley of Carmel has an equally fertile word of wisdom. "Get a knife young man and learn to whittle!"

Far from idle words, having a knife and learning to whittle as a young boy in Massachusetts nearly 80 years ago started Roger Wiley on a vocation-avocation of woodworking and wood carving that has been both work and hobby to him since the days when he whittled twigs "just to be whittlin'."

It's a fine thing for a boy to whittle, Mr. Wiley says. You learn to keep your eyes open and your mouth shut. You learn to keep your hands and your head busy and you learn to take it easy. You can ruin months of good work just by getting in too much of a hurry. You even learn how to dream in a practical sense when you whittle. You see a nice piece of wood and it puts your head working to figure what might be made of it. Pretty soon you can imagine it, then you just go ahead and start whittling it out.

Even idle doodles can be turned into practical realities, as Mr. Wiley shows in the carved what-not shelf which will be displayed among other samples of his craftsmanship at the Monterey County Fair this month. The cut design on the shelf was originally an aimless "telephone conversation" doodle.

A jovial gentleman who believes nails and sandpaper have almost no place in good woodworking, Roger Wiley came to Carmel with his wife Susan seven years ago, following his retirement in Los Angeles as a mining equipment engineer.

"We knew just what we wanted, and we found it," he smiles, but what it really boils down to is that the Wileys bought a handsome fireplace and a large back

Council Cuts $200 From Budget, Finds $10,000 More Expense Added

Supervisors Drop River Clearance Start New Project

The county board of supervisors abandoned a proposed tax-supported Carmel River clearance project on Monday when 30 persons spoke against the measure, none for; and a straw vote and two petitions opposed the clearing of the river as a flood control measure from just west of Highway 1 to Robles del Rio.

The straw vote was conducted by mailed questionnaires sent out by the county road department. Replies received from all sections of the valley showed 74 per cent of those answering opposed the measure. One petition opposing the clearance project was signed by 11 property owners on Fourteenth Street in the Mission Tract, the other signed by 21 property owners on Fifteenth Street in the same area.

Frank McDonald, chairman of the river committee for the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association, stated his group was against the measure, too, favoring a flood control and water conservation project.

Supervisors then suggested to Mr. McDonald that Carmel Valley Property Owners Association form a committee to promote the project they preferred.

The Carmel City Council worked through the operating expense part of the city budget last night and pared $1700 off the $9,000 they have to make vanish in order to set the tax rate at $1.02, two cents higher than last year.

Fifteen hundred of the parings was a windfall. City Clerk Larry Rose told them that the city insurance premium had been reduced

Lindsley Says "No" To J.C. Poll

Assistant District Attorney Bert Lindsley told a shocked group of citizens at a special school board meeting Tuesday night that the school board is not permitted under the educational code to call an election within the district on the junior college question: whether the Carmel School District shall participate in forming a junior college district with Monterey and Pacific Grove, or to remain independent and continue to send its students to junior colleges of their choice under the tax-tuition provision.

Nor can the board send out a letter poll.

Nor can it approve a letter poll sponsored by a citizens' group such as the Taxpayers Association or the Citizens Advisory Committee.

The board is permitted to hold a public meeting where they may ask for a show of hands or distribute ballot cards to be collected at the meeting.

A public meeting was set a week ago for September 12, 8:00 o'clock at Sunset Auditorium on the recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee, but neither school board nor citizens are satisfied with a public meeting poll.

Asked if the citizens themselves could obtain an initiative election, such as Carmel's and Pacific Grove's initiative on the sales tax several years ago, Mr. Lindsley said that the initiative and refer-that much. The $200 they actually cut out of the budget was for a cement floor for the long abandoned caretaker shack at the Forest Theatre which none of them wanted preserved anyway.

"Take out the termites and the walls would fall in," said Councilman Carl Patnude.

But their budget reducing exercises resembled the frog trying to climb out of the well. Since the budget was unveiled to public view last week, various items have been typed in at the bottom of the pages of departmental budgets, but not added in, about $10,000 worth. If the council allows them, they will have to cut out $19,000 elsewhere instead of $9,000.

Tacked on but not added in items:

The additional laborer which Councilman James Buffington wants for his street department, $3,947.00. He now has 11 men. The street department's budget is $55,323.12, already. This is $6,534.93 greater than last year's, a 13.4 percent increase.

The additional man Councilman John Chitwood wants for the police department, $5,000. He now has 11 men. The police department's budget is $66,537.00. This is $7,187.48 increase, 12.1 percent.

The $900 Fire Chief Robert Smith wants to pay the officers of the volunteer fire department: Assistant Chief, $15.00 per month; Battalion Chief, $12.50; Senior Captain, $12.50; two other captains, $10.00 each; three lieutenants, $7.50. The proposal to pay some of the volunteers, the officers, is a revolution in policy, since heretofore volunteers have donated their services to the city. In addition to the fire chief, the department has three full-time salaried men. The fire department

Bert Heron Has Exceptional Staff For Midsummer Night's Dream In Forest Theater, Aug. 29-31, Sept. 5-7

A Midsummer-Night's Dream—that play of all plays most ideally suited to Carmel's beautiful open-air theater—will be presented by the Carmel Shakespeare Festival Company on two week ends, August 29-30-31 and September 5-6-7. This will be the Monterey Peninsula's outstanding dramatic event of the season.

Producer-director Herbert Heron has the co-operation of an exceptional staff. His associates in the stage direction are Blanche Tolmie and Bud Houghton, two thoroughly trained workers in theatrical art and both with long experience in Shakespearean productions. Miss Tolmie was formerly with Ben Greet's Shakespeare Company, touring the United States in repertory. She has been prominent in Forest Theater work for many years. She was Heron's chief assistant in two previous productions of A Midsummer-Night's Dream, has directed a large number of plays in Carmel's open-air theater and elsewhere, and has played many important parts, including the stellar roles in The Countess Cathleen and Iphigenia in Tauris.

Bud Houghton is not only a student and lover of Shakespeare, he was a member of the Globe Theater Shakespeare Company at the World's Fair, he has made a magnificent production of Richard the Second, and has impersonated

Monterey Co. Fair Opens Wed., Promises To Be One Of Finest In The State

Thousands of visitors will pour through the fairgrounds gates in Monterey beginning at 8:00 o'clock Wednesday morning, as early fairgoers enjoy the annual kick-off breakfast of the Monterey County Fair.

Hot cakes and sausage, served with coffee and other tasty foods, will be prepared by army kitchens from Fort Ord. Tickets may be purchased at the breakfast or from the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce.

Following breakfast, the fairgoer will see hundreds of beautiful displays in the fair's many exhibit buildings. Beginning with the commercial exhibit hall, viewers will see the latest in household items and gadgets, including refrigerators, reducing machines, and encyclopedias.

Across the midway the visitor can tour the art building and floriculture exhibits. Something new this year is the swimming pool opposite the art building. Three water ballets will be given daily by a group of swimmers from Carmel and Carmel Valley.

On down the midway, the crafts, architecture, agriculture, and education exhibits may be seen.

Cypress Tree And Power Pole Get In Way Of Cars

George W. White of Gilroy lost control of his car at 10:40 o'clock last night going north on Highway 1 at Carmel Highlands, 177 feet from Wildcat Creek, and hit a cypress tree.

His wife Evelyn and daughter Linda, nine, received minor injuries and were taken to the Peninsula Community Hospital by the California highway patrol.

Harold Lind, San Antonio and Tenth Streets, hit a power pole at Carpenter and First Streets at 2:40 o'clock Wednesday morning, causing an automatic overload switch to blow out at the transformer and plunge that area of Carmel into darkness for an hour and a half. He cut his lip in the accident. Considerable damage was done to his car which, after hitting the pole, became wedged between a fence and a tree.

TRI-COUNTY SWIM MEET AT PACIFIC GROVE SATURDAY MORNING

Over 200 speed swimmers from Santa Cruz, Watsonville, Salinas, Monterey, Carmel, and Pacific Grove will gather at the Pacific Grove pool this Saturday morning to vie for medals and team championships in the annual Tri-County Swim Meet. With over 40 swimmers entered in the meet, the Carmel team will be a topheavy favorite to win this year's championship. Undeclared in dual and three-way meet competition this season, the Carmel splashes hold victories over all the teams entered in the Tri-County Meet. Santa Cruz has some brilliant individual performers and should garner a number of first places but the depth isn't great enough to challenge the big teams from Monterey and Carmel.

Saturday's meet starts at 9:00 a.m. and will be finished about 2:00 p.m. The public is invited to this big swimfest and the caliber of competition assures plenty of thrilling races.

CARMEL SWIMMERS SINK SANTA CRUZ AND SALINAS

Piling up 16 first places and accumulating enough seconds and thirds to amass 228 points, the Carmel swim team easily outdistanced Salinas and Santa Cruz in a meet held at the Carmel pool last Saturday morning. Double winners for Carmel were Don Kneedler, breaststroke and backstroke; Mike Cook, breaststroke and 75-yard medley; Ann Giles, breaststroke and medley; and David Rosenkranz, diving and backstroke. Single blue ribbon winners were Pat Mosolf, backstroke; Barbara Giles, backstroke; Ronnie Berry, backstroke; Mary Martin, freestyle; and Joy Fehring, diving. Other swimmers contributing to the Carmel point total were: Keith Kneedler, Ronnie Jella, Pam Petersen, Louise Strosnider, Ginger Laky, Susan Petersen, Rick Baldwin, Dan Aldrich, Tim Fry, Gary Aebersold, Lary Sweeney, Pam Palmer, and Chris Dancy.

COACH RAINER RECOVERING FROM TRAMPOLINE ACCIDENT

Coach Fred Rainer, Carmel High's junior-varsity football and track mentor, is on the mend again after a hospital session due to an accident suffered while bouncing on a trampoline. The popular Carmel instructor chipped a few cervical vertebrae and is now firmly encased in a neck brace which definitely limits his sight-seeing. Coach Rainer will have to take things easy for the next two or three weeks but expects to be fit and ready when football practice starts the 27th of August. If all goes well, the rugged 220-pounder will be back supervising the Sunset playground in a passive fashion next Monday.

YOUTH CENTER SOFTBALL

Winners of the Monterey B-division Socko League, the Carmel Youth Center softball team goes after bigger game next Monday night, meeting the A-division winners in a 7:00 o'clock game at the new Monterey softball park. The Youth Center team clubbed its way through the B-league in convincing fashion, winning six straight games to finish in front by two games. Jack Giles, Youth Center manager, plans to go with his strongest lineup Monday night in order to get a winning start in the two-for-three playoff series. Playing for the Youth Center will be Fred Nelson, Tim O'Shea, Mike O'Shea, Phil O'Shea, Cim Conway, Andy Gray, Mike Mitchell, Mal Burdis, Joe Mason, Art Wilkerson, and Ron Faia.

FOOTBALL IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER

A look at the Peninsula playgrounds shows that King Football is rapidly shoving the national pastime, baseball, aside and is about ready to take over for the next four months. Restless high school and college athletes are getting a head start with touch football and running sessions at the beach and at the high school field. Football practice for the high schools will start August 27th with most schools slating medical exams on the 25th and 26th. Coach Bill Abbey's Monterey Peninsula College gridders start their full scale workouts on September 1st.

Headed by a fine junior college home schedule, there should be plenty of interesting grid activity for Peninsula fans this season. The Lobos offer as home attractions games with Glendale, American River (Sacramento), Vallejo, East Contra Costa, and the big Thanksgiving traditional with Hartnell.

The Santa Cruz Seahawks will play the first game of the season on the Peninsula, meeting Travis Air Base in an Optimist Bowl charity game on the night of August 24th. The Seahawk team is composed of former junior college and college players recruited by Len Beattie, Seaside Recreation Director. Missing from the football picture this season will be the star-studded Fort Ord Warriors who have annually been the scourge of service football. Fort Ord presented some highly entertaining football for Peninsula fans and the colorful military spectacles will be missed.

Monterey Co. Fair Opens Wednesday, Promises To Be Finest

on the big open stage, this year featuring only professional entertainment, including the Ted DeWayne galaxy of bigtime circus acts.

Further up the midway is another stage, this devoted to the use of amateurs, the Stars of Tomorrow show. This will be in the form of a contest, with winners of each day's show appearing as finalists in Sunday's last performance.

Near the stage, one finds food concessions, ranging from booths to a complete restaurant, the Hunt Club. Mexican tacos, Italian pizza and sausage, Spanish chili—all will be a part of the international flavor of the fair, while good old American innovations, ranging from hot dogs and hamburgers to cotton candy and candied apples, will retain the old county fair flavor.

Passing the food, the fairgoer will be amazed at the variety of exhibits in the arcade. Here one may take a college examination, observe a display of workings of the county sheriff's office, or stand in awe at the booth of the vegetable-cutter salesman with the real sales pitch.

A special exhibit will feature a display of the progress made in developing operational missiles. It traces the history of rocketry from 1232 A.D. to the present era. The Monterey County Fair is one of three in California selected by the U.S. Army to display this rocketry exhibit.

Another special display will be the booth operated by the Monterey Bay Radio Club in conjunction with the Military Affiliate Radio Service (MARS) of Fort Ord. Here the fairgoer has an opportunity to send a message to friends and relatives in the Armed Forces anywhere.

Next is the National Horse Show ring, where more than 350 horses will show during the nine performances.

Past the show ring, livestock enthusiasts will see California's champion beef, sheep, and hogs on display in the new livestock buildings. Saturday, the fourth day of the fair, will feature the Junior Livestock Auction, proceeds of which will go to the 4-H Club members and Future Farmers of America who raise the animals for sale.

The visitor completes his tour of the grounds at the carnival, where rides, games, a fun house, and souvenirs will excite kids and grown-ups as well.

A special feature of this year's fair will be a real Kids' Day, a day when the small fry have a chance to enter Junior Olympics contests, pie-eating contests, balloon busting contests, a treasure hunt, and many other events scheduled just for the kids. Friday will be devoted to kids under 16, who will enter the admission gates free.

From start to finish, August 21 to 25, the Monterey County Family Fair promises to be one of the finest fairs in the state.

Sen. Monroney Questions Advantages Of Christian Disarmament Program

Already there has been reaction in Washington, D. C. to the Attainable Disarmament Program for Christian America outlined by Zenas Potter in last issue of the Pine Cone. Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, in a letter to Mr. Potter, indicated interest but stated that he thought there are not enough positive advantages as outlined in the program.

The Committee for Christian Disarmament has prepared the following answer to Senator Monroney's objection:

"Ten advantages of an Attainable Disarmament Program for Christian America which calls for the United States to: (1) announce that we will not make or test more bombs for a two year period, and, (2) release the secret of how to make clean, relatively radiation-free bombs.

"It will break an 11 year deadlock, which has prevented any reduction in atomic dangers. The A-bomb (equal to 20,000 tons of TNT) has become the H-bomb (equal to 5,000,000 tons of TNT). Slow, propeller-driven bombers are being replaced by intercontinental missiles. But the world's political leaders are right back where they were when the bomb was dropped on Hiroshima. Net result: we have advanced backward at extraordinary speed, and the world's peril is far greater today than it has been at any time.

"Breaking the deadlock by two bold, imaginative steps, taken on our own initiative, will be a masterful achievement in world diplomacy.

"It will bring us an incredible amount of goodwill throughout the world. Not only in Europe and Japan, but throughout the great colonial areas of the world, in satellite countries and even among the ordinary people of Russia. It may have a marked influence on the outcome of the cold war.

"It will put the Soviet Union very much in disrepute, as the chief enemy of disarmament and world security, unless she matches our steps. And if she does this, much of the credit will come to us for forcing her hand by our courageous action.

"Should the Kremlin also adopt a two year bomb vacation, and keep its promise, we shall be safer than we are now.

"Fall-out dangers will be reduced, for all peoples, including us. Billions of dollars will be saved to our taxpayers.

"It will permit us to put greater effort into development of atomic power.

"By improving the international climate, it will make future agreement on permanent controls more likely. Should we and the Kremlin get into competition to see who can do the most to reduce atomic dangers, a very great improvement might be achieved.

"It will create special pressure for agreement, two years from now, to prevent a resumption of bomb production and testing.

"It will prove to the world that we still are what we always have been, a nation deeply devoted to human welfare, with strong moral principles founded upon the Christian religion.

"In spite of these advantages, these steps would not be proposed were it not for the fact that we can take them without endangering our security; since the bombs needed to stay the hand of the Kremlin already are in our hands, and will remain potent while we take a two year bomb vacation.

"With 10 good reasons for adopting the plan, and none for not adopting it, it deserves full consideration by the President, the State and Defense Departments, the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Defense Council."

Membership is invited in the Attainable Christian Disarmament Program movement. Mr. Potter says, and contributions to help defray cost of advertising in Washington, D. C. and New York newspapers may be sent to Committee for Christian Disarmament, Box 19, Carmel, California.

Heron Has Exceptional Staff For Midsummer Night's Dream In Aug.

(Continued from Page One) Shakespeare in a play by Bernard Shaw. He was for a long time producer-director for Radio Station KCBS. He has acted locally in the First Theater, and the Forest Theater and recently scored two hits in the Circle Theater with finished interpretations of a priest and an old judge.

The costumes for The Dream have been designed and are being made by Hazel McLellan, whose stunning costumes for As You Like It and Twelfth Night drew high praise from critics and public alike. Miss McLellan has costumed many other local productions, and always with great success.

The lighting, so important a feature in A Midsummer-Night's Dream, will be the responsibility of Roland Scheffler, who handled the two previous Shakespeare comedies. The Dream offers him a chance for unusually lovely enchanting colors and special effects.

The Mendelssohn music will be in charge of Mausita Jennings, who translates the overture, the fairy dances, the nocturne, the wedding march, the bergomask dance of the clowns and the gay finale into the enchantment of music on the night air, in the beautiful Forest Theater.

Frank Bourman is designing and directing the dances of Oberon, Titania, Puck, and the small elves who follow the king and queen of the fairies. Mr. Bourman studied with Alexandra Sawicka of the Metropolitan Opera Ballet and Michael Panieff of the original Ballet Russe. He has appeared often on the professional stage and in television, and toured Europe for two years with the Ballet Rambert of London. He was soloist in the local performances of the Monterey Civic Ballet Company. Mr. Bourman is now teaching in the senior ballet department of the Dorothy Dean School of Dancing.

Eric Borg is bringing his talents to bear on the creation of the ass's head for Bottom to wear and the lion's head and skin in which Snug disguises himself in the farcical play within a play.

This will be Bert Heron's fourth production of Shakespeare's radiant comedy, and for this one he has designed another of his beautiful settings. Some may still remember the great beauty of his 1931 production, and many will recall with pleasure his exquisite As You Like It, and last year's charming Twelfth Night.

"The Forest Theater, of course, is one of the most beautiful in the world, and deserves the best adornment," he says.

Construction is in charge of Jack James, who built last year's set. He will be assisted by a group of loyal theater "carpenters" and "painters".

Council Cuts $200 Off Budget, Finds $10,000 More Expense Added

ment's budget is $30,643.00, an increase of $5,412.63, 21.5 percent. This represents an increase of $2,148.29 in addition to salary raises and not including the tacked on item of $900. Councilman Carl Patnude, fire commissioner, said he had not seen the budget before the meeting. He would talk to Chief Smith about some of the items. The argument for paying the officers of the volunteers is that the department would receive a higher rating with the insurance underwriters, which might mean a reduction of insurance rates on property in the city.

City Clerk Larry Rose's added on but not added in item is $125.00 for a three years' supply of flags, and he might get it.

The chances for another man on the police department and street department payrolls are faint:

Mayor Horace Lyon said, "The budget provides for maintaining city services at their present standard. These men represent additional service. If the citizens think the additional service is worth the additional cost, I'd be glad to hear from them."

Councilman Chitwood commented: "Our ability to pay is limited. We are not a big town." He pointed out that taxes on a "modest" home are $150. "What we need is more revenue," he said, and then took off on his hobby horse, parking meters.

Mrs. Patrice Hall, one of the audience of eight, asked if the council could take over the lot next to the Carmel Theatre and install parking meters there. Councilman Buffington, who is a Lion, was delegated to explain that the parking lot is not making a fortune for the Lion's Club baseball field fund, even though the club pays only $1.00 a year rental. It would cost the city $300,000 to buy the lot. Mr. Chitwood thought

Letters . . .

2889 San Pasqual,
Pasadena, Calif.

Dear Editor:

The little poem I have enclosed is from the pen of a dear old lady in Pasadena where I make my home. It came as a response to a card I sent her from Carmel telling her how much I have loved the place over the past sixty odd years. I think she loves it too.

Cordially,
Helen B. Dickie.

CARMEL BY THE SEA

Fill your ears with the swish of the surf;
Fill your breath with the scent of the brine;
Fill your eyes with its measureless space;
And cherish those treasures, friend of mine;
For the time when the close of a day hard-spent day
Pleads for waves, and breeze and the glitterings play
Of the full moon's wake,— its pathless way.

—E. W. B.
(Miss Esther Buxton)

the lot should be acquired by the city. The land the city is buying on Junipero Street for a corporation yard, he considers "unsuitable" for the purpose. The city "fill" could be used for a corporation yard and the Junipero property offered as a down payment on the Lions parking lot.

"If we had another policeman, he could help direct traffic at the post office," observed Mayor Lyon. Councilman Chitwood thought a new traffic survey should be made. Then Councilman Patnude made a remark that the Pine Cone would print in 36 pt. caps. if it had the room:

"Traffic has never bothered me. I have driven down Ocean Avenue from one end to the other when the traffic was thickest and it took three to four minutes. When five minutes is too long in Carmel, you're living in the wrong town."

At the beginning of the session, Admiral C. W. Fisher, a spectator, looked at the $360,083.11 total for the proposed budget and asked, "How much greater is this than last year's?" When told by Clerk Rose, $50,000, he wanted to know why. Mr. Rose said $25,000 of it represented salary increases; $9,000, increase in library budget; $15,000 return of money borrowed from reserves, which will bring the reserve fund to $109,000. The goal should be $150,000 reserve, he said, since much of Carmel's revenue comes from sales taxes, a "very sensitive" source of income.

Workmen Removing Dangerous Slates From Sunset Roof

The slates are coming off the steep roof of Sunset School Auditorium this week, ending a 20 year headache for the school board, faculty and PTA. They are being replaced by slate-appearing asphalt composition shingles which won't break free, slide with frightening momentum down the roof's incline to crash into the cow-catcher type retainer at the edge of the roof.

"And little good that was if a slate started from the top of the roof," said Sunset Principal Orville C. Rogers this morning.

A roofing crew of seven men from C. L. Frost, roofers, are taking off the slates, saving the good ones, and letting the damaged slates slide down the roof into an elevated metal basket attached to a truck. This basket is lowered to the body of the truck when the load is hauled away.

The crew has disturbed 30 or 40 bats while removing the slates, according to Principal Rogers.

The slate roof dates back to 1931 when Sunset auditorium was built. After a few years slates started sliding. Immediately the school board, faculty and PTA realized the danger and the cow-catcher retainer was put in place. It was never completely effective and the sliding slates remained a menace to Sunset pupils.

The job is to be completed by the time school opens or soon after.

The Impact of India on Communism will be discussed by Marshall Windmiller of the Institute of East Asiatic Studies of the University of California at an open meeting of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Carmel high school cafeteria. ## Lots Of Fun In Personal Appearance, New Show, Well Produced, At Circle

By CAROLYN ELSTON

Glamour, sex appeal and hilarity, with a nice bit of suspense thrown in, enacted with verve and professional polish, marked the opening of Lawrence Riley's Personal Appearance at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre last Friday night.

Director Charles Thomas has topped his best in selection of types, in direction, and in sustained tempo. In reviving the Broadway hit of 20 years ago Mr. Thomas has brought us a 1957 refresher in this fast moving comedy that, thank heaven, needs no psychiatric explanation.

There is the Siren, movie star Carole Arden, delightfully dim-witted, sexy, but never, never downright wicked, superbly played by beautiful Emilja Sosic. All because her car breaks down between Wilkes and Scranton, she cyclones (nothing less) into the guest house of Addie Struthers, and Life, with a capital L begins. There is the noble naive young garage owner, Bud, handsomely played by Dick Lieberth. He is just as wholesomely dumb about sirens as you'd expect him to be, engaged to the landlady's virtuous daughter Joyce, portrayed by lovely blonde Sally Stockton.

Movie star wants Bud to go to Hollywood right then and there. He wants to go because he has a movie camera invention; she wants him to go because he is oh so handsome. Carole Arden's harassed publicity man Gene Tuttle, played with Walter Winchell glibness by Donald Ross, really carries the show with professional expertness. He knows all about sirens. The beautiful ingenue Joyce turns proud and unhappy. Her bewildered mother, wandering on and off the set, bemoaning the days when the Struthers were social register, is acted true-to-life by Florence Venn. And there is the inevitable fixer, darling frisky snooping old Aunt Kate, portrayed by a newcomer to the Peninsula, Mary Crane. Her acting with humor bubbling through, it's a delight.

Through it all, the star's vamping, the ingenue's breaking heart, the hero's weakening, the mother's moans, and Aunt Kate's strategies, there is a secondary love theme of two completely diverting teenagers. The stage struck Gladys, part-time kitchen help, is played with bouncing vivacity by the bewitchingly young and pretty Mimi Wolfe. Her goofy boy-friend Clyde is portrayed by Jack Starrett, who gives endearing pathos to the part. Michel McKay, as Carol Arden's very superior, very elegant maid-companion; and John McKinney as the take-it-as-it-comes chauffeur, complete the excellent cast.

The capacity audience on opening night paid enthusiastic tribute to Charles Thomas' excellent direction; to the handsome costuming, the stage setting and lighting. Personal Appearance will run through six week-ends, Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings. If you like good theatre, a pick-me-up for even the lowest spirits, and the unique informality of the Golden Bough Circle, here it is!

Harold Prince

Harold Allen Prince died on August 7 in a San Jose hospital after a lengthy illness. He was manager of the Monterey office of the Tynan Lumber Company and had lived on the Monterey Peninsula for 38 years. For the past several years his home was on Fifteenth Avenue near Camino Real in Carmel.

Mr. Prince was born in Boulder Creek on October 6, 1891. His marriage to Miss Marjorie F. Stanton took place in San Jose on June 13, 1921. He was a member of Monterey Lodge 217, F and A M, San Jose Consistory No. 9, Scottish Rite, and a life member of the Monterey Rotary Club.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a son, Donald A. Prince of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Maguire, and two grandchildren, Elizabeth Mallory Maguire and Thomas Maguire Jr., all of Stockton.

Funeral services were held on Saturday morning in the Paul Funeral Chapel with the Monterey Masonic Lodge officiating. Inurnment followed in the Masonic section of Cemetery El Encinal.

Granite Const. Gets Playfield Paving; Fence Bids Held

At a special school board meeting Tuesday night, Granite Construction Company, low bidder, $7800, was awarded the contract for blacktopping a 4900 square foot area between the high school gymnasium and the swimming pool, to be used for basketball and volleyball. Other bidders: Peninsula paving, $8558; Phil Calabrese, $9174.

Bids for mesh chain link fences for the high school baseball field and the new playground at River School were opened but held over. Meanwhile, the school board has called for bids on grapestake fences for the same areas. (See legal page this issue). Link fence bids: Sears Roebuck, $2599.10; Colorado Fuel and Iron, $2463; San Jose Steel, $2244.

At last week's meeting, the board awarded Jake Huizenga contract for construction of the multi-use building addition at River School, $44,963. There were four other bids, ranging from $51,563 to Huizenga's nearest contender, Harold Geyer, $46,486.

Woods playfield paving job was awarded to Phil Calabrese, $1,864. Of the other bids, high was $3310.

American Seating Company, only bidder, will furnish furniture for the elementary schools, 112 chairs and desks, for $3643.74.

Four Free Movies Including Weston's At Carmel Art Gallery

Four films from the collection of Arthur Joyce Dahl of Pebble Beach will be shown to the public free of charge at the Carmel Art Association Gallery on Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

The first film, Mark Tobey, is a semi-abstract color film analysing the philosophy and approach of this distinguished American painter and showing how familiar scenes around his native Seattle become designs for his abstractions.

Second film, Edward Weston, produced by the U.S. Information Service, is mostly filmed around Carmel and shows the world famed Highlands photographer at work in the field and in his darkroom.

Third film on the evening's program is 1848, a French film with English narration, showing the revolution of 1848 as seen through prints of the day.

The program ends with a short W. C. Fields comedy which includes an hilarious chase sequence.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

This summer we have had to tell ourselves to calm - down - and - take - all - this - with - a - grain - of - common - sense, but still we are happy by the compliments we receive from visitors to this area. They like your library, the service they get here, the new books, in fact they seem to like every thing about us. One woman who visited here and then went back to Berkeley, wrote us a most complimentary letter, and included therein a bit of a jingle about Carmel, which was bad poetry but good sentiment and appreciation of the village. Our circulation this month was an all time high, for it reached 13,566. We are a little Pollyannaish about that too.

This librarian spent some days at home last week battling fifty million influenza germs and did some reading and re-reading during the period of incarceration. One of the best mystery stories in recent months is The Case of the Missing Lovers by Lee Roberts. The title sounds racy but the book is not so at all. It is a leisurely probable type of thing, and a good remedy for flu. Re-reading included The Birth of a Cook by Ernest Mundt, and that fine book by Dr. David Fink entitled Release From Nervous Tension. Both are excellent and good reading into the bargain. Did you miss them when they first came out? Don't let this condition be a permanent thing.

This week we have three new books on California. One is the geography sort of thing done by Paul Griffin and entitled California, the New Empire State. Another one is This Is California. It is a collection of excellent photographs, which include several from Carmel and Monterey. This is a beautiful book, one which will feast your soul, and make you happy that you live surrounded by such beauty. The photographs were done by Karl Obert, and the book was printed in Germany. The third book is The California Story by Richard Wood. It gives the history of the state and much information on California government.

The Pope Speaks is a collection of important pronouncements of Pope Pius XII on the whole variety of human, social and religious problems, and on the urgent issues confronting mankind today. George Patterson was a young Scot who believed that God wanted him to give away all his possessions and rely completely on Him for daily supplies and direction. This is just what Patterson did, and the story of what transpired after that forms the basis for Patterson's new book, God's Fool. The title is based upon passages from Corinthians I, "We are fools for Christ's sake" and "The foolishness of God is wiser than men".

Joseph Welch will be remembered as one of the attorneys in the famous McCarthy hearings. Mr. Welch later acted as commentator in a series of three telecasts on the Omnibus series dramatizing the history of the Constitution. With Richard Hofstadter he has now collected the materials used for the telecasts into a book entitled The Constitution, which is illustrated with scenes from the television shows.

There are seven novels this week, including the one we mentioned earlier in this piece, The Case of the Missing Lovers. Also included this week is the latest book by Frank Swinnerton, The Woman From Sleight.

This is marvelous weather, to read, but then all weather is marvelous weather to read. Books are basic with us; how about you?

Preview Of New Fall Colors Shown At Lanz Fashion Show

The new range of winter blues, a pair of Austrian greens — olive and forest — shocking pink, and black velvet for every hour from cocktail time onward, indicated the color theme of the unusual fashion show presented by Lanz last Saturday at the Mark Thomas Inn.

Miss Elaine Lynn, fashion coordinator for Lanz, came from Beverly Hills to serve as commentator. For the important months ahead Lanz is introducing several innovations. One is the town wool dress with an overblouse, substituting for a jacket or cape. Another is a new, looser version of the sheath, shown now by Lanz with dressmaker details and less rigid fitting.

For college-career, Lanz' models displayed winter plaids, jumpers, and a range of cottons (some woven with orlon) in Lanz' own Austrian greens and the fashion-high-lighted winter blues.

This was the first of a series of fall shows to be presented by the Carmel women's specialty shop, located on Ocean Avenue.

CIRCLE THEATRE PRESENTS ISLE OF CAPRI

The Fabulous Isle of Capri will be the subject of a benefit program on the Peninsula Personalities Series of the Golden Bough Circle Theatre at 8:00 o'clock, Tuesday night. Conducting a symposium on the famous island in the Mediterranean, with an exhibition of paintings of Capri, will be Carmel artist Patricia Cunningham, Capri artist Leo Braico, and Gene Elmore, the Carmel Art Institute's resident teacher at its branch school in Italy.

A social hour and refreshments will follow the program.

WATER

These lovely birds know without questioning that this bowl which stands in the midst of the garden contains water for them to drink.

We know without questioning that all the water we need for any purpose can be obtained simply by turning the handle of the faucet.

And our faith in the immediacy of an abundant water supply goes deeper than the faucet. We know without questioning that a vast system of pipe lines, pumps, and reservoirs will function at our command. And this faith implies faith in the men who planned and built the system and in those who maintain and operate it for our benefit.

The value of such faith is without price!

MOON NIGHT

I had forgotten how moonlight clabbers
Milkwhite on roof,
How thick it spills
On hundred tongues of palm leaves,
How skim sloped hills lie curving,
Curdwhite . . .
A hemisphere of oneness whitens round me.

Farm child,
Carrying covered pail of evening milk
To nearby neighbor,
Walks quick along path
Between fields of barley stubble.
Stiff held arm steadies milkwhite level,
A hair braid blows,
Traillust oozes cool between her toes.
She blinds her side sight
To queer far shadows maybe moving
Behind palm tree row, palms
Standing moonstruck,
White, above whitened hay windrows.

White spreading night:
I had forgotten how moonlight blurs
The hieroglyphs of distance,
How it distils horizons,
Concentering hills and fields
Roof and palm and child
And me.

—MAUD OAKES VOLANDRI

THE POND

High above the still-hung leaves
The song but not the answer rings,
Flutelike,
Caught in silvery bars
So made for gladness,
Harroved, fond.
Pressed against the evening light,
The call but not the answer sings—
Black shriek,
Sequined now with stars
Sewn on her madness,
Looks up beyond.
Here too my heart is pinioned, love,
As death floats down on quiet wings
To strike
Where no ripple mars
The mirrored sadness
Of this silent pond.

Priscilla Sees Washington

Priscilla Clark, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard E. Clark, is spending the summer in Washington, D.C. attending the student citizenship seminar sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. She is one of 30 college students from all over the United States chosen to participate in the program which includes working in government agencies as a civil servant, attending seminars three nights a week, visits to embassies, and tours of surrounding country.

Priscilla, who will be a junior at Stanford next year, passed her civil service examination and is working for the Navy as a typist, and living with her group at the Plaza Hotel. Two nights a week seminar speakers are senators; chiefs of departments, such as the chief clerk of the Supreme Court; members of President Eisenhower's White House staff; and state department officials. These speakers tell the 30 students how their part of the government functions. The third weekly seminar is for discussion among the students themselves.

On weekend trips Priscilla has been to Williamsburg, Jamestown, and New York, visited three embassies so far, and feels she is learning much about federal government and having "a glorious time" doing it.

Glenn Climbing, Canoeing

New Yorker Glenn Clairmont, formerly of Carmel, writes friends: "Am packing to go on a wilderness camping trip in Maine; mean to climb Mt. Katahdin and also take several two or three day canoe trips in the swift rivers, shooting rapids (my new delight). This spring I had a grand time on trips down the Housatonic, the Wading, and the Delaware.

"Such a lot of gear to pack! Knee pads, stout shoes, slim shoes, thermos, flashlight, air mattress, rubber bag, oh a whole lot of stuff. Fortunately, I'll be picked up here at my door and transported happily all 600 miles without luggage trouble.

"As you know, I had lots of experience of Sierra Mountains with the LeContes and my present membership in the Appalachian Mountain Club is the main reason I'm enjoying the East so much now."

Mary Louise Garcia Wed

Tall white cathedral candles set amid a bank of white carnations, snapdragons and bridal roses decorated the altar at the Church of the Wayfarer for the marriage of Mary Louise Garcia to Raymond Mattos at 7:00 o'clock on Saturday evening. The Reverend Frank Mercer performed the double ring ceremony.

Clusters of sunlight yellow, pale green and white carnations marked the pews of the church and selected organ wedding music was played while the guests assembled.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, William Quinones of Monterey. She wore a gown of cream color satin fashioned with a tight fitting bodice with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves ending in lace points over her hands, and a full tulle overskirt with scattered lace appliques. The skirt of the dress fell in soft folds from the waist to form a cathedral train in back.

Her veil of bordered tiers of old Venetian lace, mellowed by time, and loaned to the bride by a family friend, was fastened to her hair by a halo formed with clusters of orange blossoms and extended the full length of the train of her dress, matching it in color. A small drop veil covered her face as she entered the church.

Her bridal bouquet, in fan shape, was centered by a white orchid surrounded by pale yellow and green carnations.

Mary Jo Hutchenson, a classmate of the bride, was maid of honor in a white organdy dress with pastel colored flowers appliqued on the full skirt and the waist defined by a pale yellow cummerbund. Her slippers were green, matching her green net cap from which fell a soft face veil. She carried a white lace fan adorned with clusters of green and yellow carnations and wore white organdy gloves, the gift of the bride.

The three bridesmaids, also classmates of the bride, were Alice De Baun, Phyllis Moe and Sharon Fitzgerald. Their gowns were of white organdy similar to the maid of honor's in style but with green cummerbunds matching their green net caps and green slippers. Their bouquets were fan arrangements of lace and flowers.

Jewel Balsley was flower girl in a yellow and green organdy dress with a band of flowers in her hair and carrying a basket of yellow and green carnations.

David Balsley was trainbearer wearing a white sharkskin suit, and ringbearer was Richard Balsley.

Curtis Wood was best man, and ushers were Fred Korzikina, David Peterson and Mervin De Amaral.

Mrs. Irene Bush, mother of the bride, attended the wedding in a shell pink lace sheath embroidered with pink and white pearls, matching satin slippers and feathered hat and a pink orchid at her waist.

Helen Garcia, sister of the bride, wore a navy blue and white summer print ensemble with white accessories for the occasion.

Mrs. Mattos, mother of the groom was dressed in a soft blue crepe gown with navy accessories.

At the reception held in the church parlor, Janice Woods had charge of the guest book. The three-tiered, heart-shaped wedding cake, surrounded by small bouquets of green and yellow carnations, placed on a lace-covered table, was cut by the bride and groom with an antique silver wedding knife, before they left for a honeymoon at Brookdale Lodge.

For her going away outfit the bride chose a white sheath with a white lace hat, bag and gloves. The young couple will make their home in Los Angeles where the bride will resume her studies at Biola College preparing for a teaching career, and the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mattos of Monterey, will return to duty with the Navy.

The one hundred and seventy-fourth anniversary of the death of Padre Junipero Serra will be observed on August 25 at Carmel Mission, where he is buried, by a pilgrimage of persons from all parts of Northern California. Father Serra, a Franciscan, established the original California Missions.

NOTICE OF FILING APPLICATION FOR INCREASE OF INTRASTATE TELEPHONE RATES

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on August 7, 1957, filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California an application, numbered Application No. 39309, for authority to increase certain intrastate rates and charges applicable to telephone service furnished within the State of California. In general terms, the proposed increases are as follows:

No changes are made in the regular or fixed monthly rates for basic exchange telephone service.

Message toll service—Person service rates increased at all distances. Initial period increases range in most cases from 5c to 25c.

Exchange message and message units—Los Angeles and Orange County areas changed from 4-4c to 4-3c. San Diego and Sacramento areas from 4c to 4-3c and 4-4c, respectively. Mileage steps for multi-message unit traffic in Los Angeles and San Francisco-East Bay extended areas are also changed resulting in increases of one unit per initial period at most distances over 8 miles.

Non-recurring charges (service connection, move and change, and installation charges) increased generally. Principal

In Carving Roger Wiley Discovers A Philosophy And Retirement Hobby

yard on Mission Street. The back yard was for space to build the wood shop that had been his retirement dream. The well balanced chalk rock fireplace echoed the stone work he had also done as a young man. The Wileys simply built their house around the original fireplace room, but not until the shop was completed, the tools set up, and the "cowboy workbench" put in place.

Designed by Mr. Wiley, the workbench has to be mounted like a horse and is equipped with what might be called a high cantle wooden saddle with a swivel vise clamped in front on which the work in progress can be secured.

"I figured this out a long time ago," Roger Wiley says, "as the best way to work longest without getting tired, but recently I've heard that there are similar benches in Germany and Sweden, which must prove that all woodworkers' brains run in the same channel."

A master craftsman by nature, Roger Wiley has found the secret of drawers that pull without effort. He has found the secret of carving and finishing wood so that all nature is represented in the swirl of the grain. He has also discovered the method of blending and fitting diverse pieces of wood into one harmonious whole, as in one table lamp, the base of which represents wood from 27 different countries.

Roger Wiley admits to a special love for things that "go together", whether woods for a lamp, or stones for a hearthstone. "A man just has to know what he's doing and how to choose."

And with a twinkle in his eye, this craftsman admits, too, that the same theory applies to selecting a wife, for Susan Wiley is an artist in her own right of water color and porcelain. Or, as husband Roger would state it, "she paints the picture. I make the frame. She cooks. I eat. It all blends together like the rocks in the fireplace!"

A native of Massachusetts and full blown Yankee, Roger Wiley's career has led him to all corners of the country, woodworking and locating wood to work. From his early days in New Hampshire increases for residence range from $1 to $3—for business from $1 to $5. Charges for extensions of plant outside base rate areas also increased.

Extension and PBX station rates for business message rate service are increased 25c per month generally.

Some miscellaneous equipment rates are also increased.

These increases are proposed to become effective, upon grant of authority therefor by the Public Utilities Commission, in the State of California and in various counties and municipal corporations therein, including the County of Monterey and the cities of Carmel-by-the-Sea and Pacific Grove. The State of California and the counties and municipal corporations which may be interested in the application may obtain a copy thereof from the Applicant upon request directed to:

Mr. W. L. Kietzman,
Assistant Vice President,
The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company,
140 New Montgomery Street,
San Francisco 5, California.

A copy of the application may be inspected by any interested person in the office of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company at

First Floor, 622 So. Main Street
Salinas, California and in the offices of the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California, Fifth Floor, State Building, Civic Center, San Francisco, California, and Mirror Building, 145 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, California.

where he built massive wooden pulleys and flywheels for early turbines and dynamos, he went to Denver as coach carpenter in the railroad shops during the time when rail coaches were entirely constructed of wood. "In fact," he recalls, "when they started talking about steel, I left."

It is his belief that hand woodwork is one thing and steel something else. One may replace the other, but one can never supplant the other.

Covering the countryside in the course of his work and in his searches for beautiful wood, Roger Wiley has included even one sailing schooner trip across the Gulf of Mexico in the days when it took ten days to cross, and when instead of booking passage, you just waited until you were lucky enough to find some kind of a boat that had room for you. He traveled from Maine to California and from Mexico to Canada, and half a century later, as part of his retirement dream, he covered the same ground he had known as a boy just to see what changes time had brought.

"Many a time years before," he chuckles, "friends and business acquaintances told me to drop in if I was ever by their way, but I think a lot of them were surprised to have me drop in fifty years later!"

As far as changes were concerned, Roger Wiley says he found a lot of them, and he found none. Boys were still whittling, only more of the whittling was aimless. Country roads were gone, but the countryside was unchanged.

By the riverside in New Hampshire he sat on the same log with the same man he had sat shaving sticks with years before.

In New England, he had supper with the Yankee woman who had boarded him in Mexico.

In the White Mountains of New Hampshire he found the same stone hotel where his mother and father had honeymooned.

He found new friends and saw old friends, and in Carmel, he found his real retirement dream, where weather was right, and time was sufficient for him to work all the woods of his travels into permanent pieces. Some of which will be displayed at the Fair, with others in the homes of friends, in the Carmel Presbyterian Manse and in the Carmel Presbyterian Church. There, in the entrance hall is the hand hewn black walnut table and pair of benches which represent more than two hundred hours of Roger Wiley's special kind of whittling, made especially for the church as the kind of gift this master woodworker most enjoyed giving.

Disdaining the word professional, Roger Wiley says he works in wood because he loves it. Wood for him has been livelihood, hobby and teacher.

And how did it all get started? It started with the same bit of advice he would pass along to all boys, "Just get a knife, young man, and start whittlin'."

Knits form the mainstay of many a coed's wardrobe. Perfectly packable for weekend trips, they are just right for many occasions—especially if they're chosen from the wide assortment at BERG'S. Shirleen Young (left) models a tan tweed LOFTIE KNIT ($49.98) with matching jacket and push-up sleeves. Sandra Six's one-piece blue knit (FRENCH KNIT, $29.98) has a flattering open collar and push-up sleeves.

The Ivy League look appears in BERG'S sweaters, too, this fall. Sandra's brown pull-over (TISH-U-KNIT, $6.98) has a collar button in the back, too. She wears it with a college wardrobe "must," a big tweed skirt, this one by ROMAY ($16.98), and a brass-trimmed brown belt completes the smart look. Sylvia Muir models a fall cotton continuing the peasant look. Styled by TRUDE ($16.98) it's red and white, accented with black.

BERG'S, SEASIDE, FEATURES SMART FALL FASHIONS AT LOW PRICES

For the clothes conscious college set, BERG'S on Fremont at Harcourt is this month featuring all the items dear to a collegienne's heart — mix and match skirts and sweaters, stylish knits, fall cottons, car coats, trim slacks, pretty date dresses.

BERG'S wide selection of sweaters, including the smart, bulky styles and shetlands, are priced to fit every budget, carrying out the Berg's slogan, "Smart Fashions at Low Prices."

Red will be a key color this year, and brown tones will also be important. Fall cottons are proving popular, too, as a change-off from skirts and sweaters. BERG'S has them all, of course, in styles, sizes and prices to suit everyone. The smart student will stop at BERG'S before going back to school.

Fall cottons add zest to California college campuses, as witness these two frocks from BERG'S, worn by Gail Maitre and Gloria Lotten. Gail's high-necked polished cotton is striped in two tones of brown and is a new JONATHAN LOGAN design ($17.98). Gloria's dress, also of polished cotton, is striped in light blue and navy, and is trimmed with a bowed belt. It's by TONI TODD, ($14.98).

BERG'S models are Monterey Peninsula coeds Shirleen Young, Sandra Six, Gail Maitre, Gloria Lotten and Sylvia Muir. All were photographed on the Monterey Peninsula College campus. Shirleen and Sandra will be returning next month to MPC. Gloria and Sylvia both were at MPC last year. Gail Maitre attends Dominican College at San Rafael.
